Hello, I am Adil!

Computer Science Student at Eotvos Lorand University in Budapest.

I am currently applying for internships and projects, for which I learn topics even out of University curriculum.

About

My story always flows around technology and people. I was born in Bishkek, the capital of a little, though astonishing, central asian country called Kyrgyzstan. I came to Budapest to get my Bachelor's degree in Computer Science at Eotvos Lorand University under the SH Scholarship.

Academic Way

Motivation

I remember playing all kinds of video games since I was a toddler. However, as any curious kid would think, I asked myself “where do they come from?” and learned the answer after some while. It’s being made. So, that’s how I got a little dream, one day to make a game myself.

Studying

I started my academic journey in CS already in high school when in IT classes we began to learn Java programming language.

A little while later I studied Python in my country, and now studying in one of the best Universities in Hungary.

My Hobbies

Sports

I am keen on such sports as basketball, table tennis and chess.

I believe that all the things mentioned above not only improve your health, but also the mind and thinking process.

Arranging social meetings

I love meeting new people as well as old friends, that is why I regularly organize all kinds of fun and maybe useful events like picnics, table game gatherings and group study sessions.

Household

I believe that every man has to be able to maintain his cave with everything he needs and wants, that is why I love to make my own surroundings such as daily food menu or cleaning the room. I think it will help to make me more self-dependent.
